Tristan Hughes (TriFire) is a solo artist from Stratford, Ontario. The 19 year old started making electronic music in 2007 and since then it has become a massive part of his life. Everything is recorded in his small home studio in Stratford. Hughes makes all of the music himself as well as providing vocals for the tracks. The debut album from TriFire, "Heartbreak Year" will be available on iTunes worldwide this december. The first single "Ending Credits" received the highest ranking of Platinum Auddy Award from uplaya.com for receiving a 7.9/10 from their rating system that predicts hit songs. TriFire is already making a name for himself locally with his catchy lyrics and hard hitting synths and beats. He is currently working on the follow up to "Heartbreak Year" which should be out late 2010.
