Only 19 years old, female house DJ and producer, Dianne Quiñones, "Dayne", is quickly gaining exposure to the EDM scene. Based in Minneapolis, the twin cities is her playground and can be found spinnin' house tunes at various spots in the 'cities. She's young, passionate, and full of potential, and is gradually building a reputation of becoming a well-respected female house dj in the midwest. "I remember house - before the superdubs. I remember house - when people knew the lyrics of house. I remember house - before recordlabels sold the house. I remember house - when house was about love..."
